The proposal contains lots of platitudes and motherhood statements but is very short on solid arguments and concrete examples. It has been written by a highly biased spin doctor!
Of course democracy and consultation is inefficient, time consuming and expensive. A dictatorship would solve many problems but that's not what we voters want!
The best approach is to leave these decisions to the elected local councils.. They are close to local concerns and best placed to balance priorities..
If anything, increase funds and support for councils in this work, reduce appeals to the Courts, make developers include features to make their proposals more palatable to the community.
The profit motive never provides for the community nor respects the character of the area. Government has that responsibility!

I agree to the above statement
